INDEX TO VOL. XXXI.

ALL

ALLEN, Mr. J. Romilly, The Monumental History of the Early British Church, 256
Archæologia, Vol. LII. part i., 501 Authority in religion (review of Dr. Martineau's Seat of Authority in Religion), 281 sqq.; summary of the book: the idea of God in nature, in humanity, in history, 282; artificial misplacing of authority: by Catholics, 285; by Protestants, 286; author's theories of contents of New Testament, 286; of Jesus, 288; of development of sacramental beliefs, 291; criticism of the work: the Divinity of Christ, 292; authorship of the Fourth Gospel, 295; internal evidence, 296; author's views of the synoptical Gospels: their date, 298; their teaching, 300; St. Paul's Epistles, 300; arguments against Dr. Martineau's attack on the authority of the Church, 302; the unity of faith, 304; the real seat of authority in religion: the teaching of Christ—of the Church—of the Bible, 307; conscience as a religious guide, 310; mischief wrought by the false claims of Rome, 311; points on which Dr. Martineau's work may be instructive, 311 sqq.

BAILLIE, E. C. C., The Protoplast, 512
Ball, Sir Robert S., Time and Tide: a Romance of the Moon, 250
Barnes, Mr. A. S., The English Liturgical Colours, 503
Blyth, Bishop, Primary Charge, 518
Boldrewood, Mr. Rolf, The Squatter's Dream, 244

BUT

Bramston, Rev. J. T., Sermons to Boys, preached in Winchester College Chapel, 249
Bright, Rev. Canon W., Lessons from the Lives of Three Great Fathers, 480
Buddhism (review of Sir M. Monier-Williams's book), 70 sqq.; the fashion of the study of non-Christian religions, 70; exaggerated views, 71; excellence of the present work, ib.; close union of Buddhism with other Hindu religions, 72; the life of Gautama, 72; he becomes a Buddha, 73; his original doctrine, 74; pessimism, ib.; Nirvana, 75; Karma, ib.; its relation to moral theory, 76; relation of Buddhism to other Eastern religions, 77; its development towards Theism, ib.; annexation of the old Hindu gods, 78; Avatara theory, 79; the 'jewel prayer,' 80; quasi-miraculous powers, 81; contrast of Buddhism with Christianity, ib.; attitude of missionaries towards it, 82; popular Buddhism is debasing and savage, 83; need of Christian effort against it, 84
Burney, Frances, The Early Diary of, 497 sqq.; Dr. Burney, 409; training of his children, 410; 'Daddy' Crisp, ib.; Maria Allen, 411; the Burneys in Soho and Holborn, 412; early training of Frances, 413; correspondence with Mr. Crisp, 414; Garrick and the Burneys, 415; Mr. Barlow's suit, 416; Dr. Johnson, 417; visit to Gloucester and Worcester, ib.; the 'character-monger,' ib.; Evelina, 418
Butler, Col. Sir W. F., Sir Charles Napier, 513

XUM

CAP

CAPITULUM Coloniense, 419 sqq.; clue to its connexion with Herman's Deliberatio, 420; references to, in Cranmer's Note Books, ib.; the Antididagma, 421; cause and object, 422; result, 423; details of Canons of Provincial Council of Cologne (1536), 425; Bucer's Defensio, 427; the Deliberatio, the Chapter's replies, and Bucer's rejoinders: Baptism, 428; mixed chalice, 430; sacrificial side of the Eucharist, 431; consecration without prayers and invocation, 432; Cranmer's view, 435; use made in England of Antididagma and Deliberatio, 436

Chevalier, the Chanoine, Repertorium Hymnologicum, 505

Church and State under the Tudors (review of Mr. G. C. Child's work), 141 sqq.; the author's professed impartiality, 142; theory of the Church before and after Henry VIII. being two entirely distinct bodies, 143; views on the divorce, 145; doctrinal changes under Edward VI., 146; foreign Protestants then in England, 147; the reaction in Mary's reign, 148; deductions from the horrors of Elizabeth's reign, 149; the numbers of the conforming clergy, 150; Elizabeth's tyranny, 151; Mr. Child's conclusions on the Royal Supremacy and the creation of a new National Church by Henry VIII., 152; on 'Orders,' 154; on the monasteries and clergy, ib.

City of God, St. Augustine's, 22 sqq.; reasons for the Saint's perennial influence, 22; De Civitate Dei in Griffith and Farran's 'Theological Library,' 23; primary intention of the work, 24; immediate incentive to writing it, 25; the writer's account of his object, 26; sketch of the work: comfort to the Christians who had suffered losses in the sack of Rome, ib.; general indictment of paganism, 27; Rome owed its power not to the gods it worshipped, 28; but to the one true God, 29; comparison of the Jews and Rome, 30; justification of God in history, ib.; criticism of the great philosophic systems: Varro's mythic and civil theology, 31 sq.; Manichæism: the nature of evil, 33 sq.; Academicism: how can we know Truth, 35; Stoic fatalism, 36; Stoic apathy, 37; St. Augustine's leanings to the Platonic school, 38; differences with the Platonists: their non-acceptance of the Incarnation, 39; their permission of polytheism, ib.; contrast of the City of God and the city of this world, 40; definition of the two cities, ib.; mystical and predestinarian opinions, 41; nature of the State, and of the Family, 42; the distinctive note of the De Civitate Dei, 44

Coligny, Gaspard de, 361 sqq.; his family, 362; the Guises, 364; Coligny's career as a soldier, 365; Admiral of France, 366; becomes a Protestant, 367; Spanish policy of the Court, 368; disaffection, 369; Prince de Condé, ib.; ascendency of the Guises, 370; policy of Catherine de Médicis, 371; Condé's manifesto, 372; Coligny joins the Protestants, 373; murder of Guise, 374; Peace of Amboise, ib.; Coligny at Châtillon, 375; events of 1567-8, 376; the third religious war, 377; peace of 1570, 378; Coligny's relations with Charles IX., 379; attempt upon Coligny's life, ib.; massacre of St. Bartholomew: murder of Coligny, 380; general estimate of his character, 381

Corrie, Rev. Dr. G. E., Memorials of the Life of (ed. M. Holroyd), 238

Cranmer's Liturgical projects (review of Mr. Gasquet's and Mr. Bishop's Edward VI. and the Book of Common Prayer), 446 sqq.; Cranmer's scheme for a new Breviary, 448; similarity to Quignon's, 449; and to Sarum

CRA

Breviary, 450; Cranmer's second scheme, 451; distribution of the Psalter, 452; the Lessons, 453; the language intended, 454; the Calendar of Saints, 455; Mr. Gasquet's conclusions challenged, 456; parallels to Cranmer's contemptible character, 457; other points refuted, 458; the need of reform in service books before the Reformation, 459; cope or chasuble? 460; the Agnus Dei, 461

DOMENICHETTI, Mr. R. H., The Quest of Sir Bertrand, and other Poems, 252

Drummond, Dr., Philo-Judæus, 224

Dürer, Albert (review of Mr. W. M. Conway's Literary Remains of Albrecht Dürer), 314 sqq.; comparison with previous works on Dürer, 315; the artist's home: Nürnberg and its leading men, 316; Dürer's share in the work of the Humanists, 318; his father, 319; his youth, 320; visits Italy, 321; Pirkheimer's account of Dürer's wife, 322; death of his father, 324; Dürer's personal appearance, 325; Jacopo de' Barbari, ib.; the Book of Human Proportions, 326; visits Venice, 327; active work after his return, 329; 'Adoration of the Trinity by All Saints,' 330; work as an engraver, 331; death of his mother, 332; work for Kaiser Maximilian, 333; visit to the Netherlands, 334; Melanchthon and Erasmus, 336; religious principles, 337; theory of the Four Temperaments, 338; Luther's opinion of him, 339

Dupanloup's Ministry of Preaching, 437 sqq.; what preaching ought to be, 438; 'a living message,' ib.; the priest must have something to say, 439; canons for the preacher, 440; form must not triumph over substance, 441; 'an instructive message,' 442; insistence on fundamental truths, 443; need of plans of religious instruction, 444

FINDING of the Cross, The (ed. Rev. J. Wakeford), its dangerous teaching, 485

Foreign Mission work (review of Bishop Churton's The Missionary's Foundation of Doctrine, and of the Life of A. M. Mackay), 462 sqq.; contrast of the books, 462; utility of Bishop Churton's, 463; need of definite teaching, 465; hindrances to Church work abroad, 466; Mackay's early life, 467; Protestant training, 468; moral and physical courage, 469; among the barbarians, ib.; difficulties with Roman Catholic missionaries and with the natives, 470; struggle against witchcraft, 471; persecution, beggary, almost starvation, 473; a tyrannical king, 474; a change for the better, 475; death, ib.

Francis, Mrs. C. D., A Story of the Church of England (Part II.), 497

GLADSTONE, Mr. W. E., The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture, 495

HAMLEY, Gen. Sir E., The War in the Crimea, 516

Harris, Professor J. Rendel, The Diatessaron of Tatian, 476

Hetherington, Helen F., and Rev. H. Darwin Burton, Paul Nugent: Materialist, 247

Hutton, Mr. R. H., Cardinal Newman, 500

IN Darkest Africa (Mr. Stanley's book), 45 sqq.; causes of its popularity, 45; good qualities and defects, 46; origin and object of the expedition, 46; its staff and preparation, 47; the route, 48; conditions of the march unparalleled, 49; Major Barttelot and the rear-guard, 50; cutting a way through the forest, 51; difficulties with natives, and from tempests, 52; a Balessé 'clearing' described, 53; heavy losses by death or desertion, 54; lack of food 55; out of the forest:

IN

disappointment, 56; meeting with Emin Pasha, 57; red ants and other plagues, ib.; horrors of the return journey, 58; Emin's apathy and indecision, ib.; Christian heroes in Africa, 59

In Memoriam: H. P. Liddon, 212

JAMES, Rev. H., The Country Clergyman and his Work, 259

Jenkins, Rev. Canon, The Life of Valentin Alberti, D.D., 247

Journal of Sir W. Scott, 517

Judgment of Archbishop of Canterbury in Bishop of Lincoln's Case, 265 sqq.; the 'sole jurisdiction' question, 265; the parts of the judgment: the mixed chalice, 266; the 'ceremony of ablution,' 269; the eastward position, 269; the 'manual acts,' 272; the Agnus Dei, 275; altar-lights, ib.; the sign of the cross, 277; rebuke of the 'irreconcileables,' 278; counsel as to ritual practices, 279; summary of the judgment, 280

LA Commedia di Dante Alighieri (Rivingtons), 230

Latin Versions of the Gospels, 85 sqq.; scientific criticism of the Latin Bible a blank before the 16th century, 86; the Sixtine and Clementine editions, ib.; work of R. Simon, Martianay, Vallarsi, ib.; Bentley, Sabatier, Delarue, 87; Bianchini, 88; Cardinal Wiseman on the Italian and earlier African texts, 89; the 'Old Vulgate,' ib.; Vercellone's work, ib.; Hort, Westcott, ib.; Wordsworth, Sanday, 90; Latin Bible of Africa, 91; Biblical material from St. Cyprian, 91; characteristics of the African version, 93; Italian versions from 4th century onwards, 94; the 'European' version, 95; comparison of codices, 96; St. Jerome, ib.; Bishop Wordsworth's work on Old Latin Biblical Texts, 97; story of the Codex Amiatinus, 98; the Lord's Prayer in various MSS., 100; the Beatitudes, 103

Lefroy (Dean), The Christian Ministry, 156 sqq.; a triangular duel: Dr. Hatch's theories, 156 sq.; Mr. Gore's The Ministry of the Christian Church, 158; points of agreement of Dean Lefroy with Mr. Gore, 160; the Dean's explanation of the genesis of the ministry, 162; Harnack's ideas accepted by him, 163; Mr. Gore's explanation of 'Apostolic Succession,' 164; Dean Lefroy's objections, 165; the true conception of the Episcopate, 168; opinions of Dr. Newman and Dr. Pusey, 169; St. Augustine's doctrine, 171; the Dean's treatment of Christian antiquity, 172; Tertullian, 173; the Apostolic age, 174; the Reformation, 175; literary criticism of the book, 178 sq.

Lightfoot, Bishop, Ordination Addresses and Counsels to Clergy, 492; Leaders in the Northern Church, ib.

Lux Mundi (tenth edition), 218

MACKAY, Mr. T., The English Poor, 243

Moore, Rev. Dr. E., Contributions to the Textual Criticism of the Divina Commedia, 230

Murray, Mr. D. Christie, John Vale's Guardian, 250

Musurus Pasha, Dante's Inferno, Purgatorio, and Paradiso, translated into Greek verse, 230

NEW Books, Periodicals, etc., Brief Notes on, 260

Non-Episcopal ordination (Dean Perowne's paper in Lippincott's Magazine), 382 sqq.; proposals and limitations, 383; agreement between Puritan and Papist, 384; German and Swiss theory, 386; a Church and the Church, 387; sources of inquiry, 388; authoritative statements of the Church of England, 389; threefold ministry in Preface to Ordinal, 390; refutation of the argument that the law was violated, 391; meaning of the Act of Uniformity, 393; Nonconformist interpretation of Preface to Ordinal, 395; 'Nonconformists' were not Dissenters, 397; opinions of Separatists: John Canne, 399; William Erbury, 400; refutation of the Dean's argument from the private opinion of English divines, 401

NON

PIO

PIOUS frauds (review of Rev. T. E. Bridgett's Blunders and Forgeries), 59 sqq.; proportions of piety and fraud, 59; value of inquiry into misstatements, 60; ludicrous blunders, 60; the Rood of Boxley, 62; Lambard's account, 63; Mr. Bridgett's opinion criticized, 64; the mechanical figure of St. Runwald, 65; Robert Ware's stories about Ireland, 66; proofs that they were forgeries, 67 sqq.

Plunket, Lord (Archbishop of Dublin), Home Reunion and the Church of Ireland, 227

ROW, Rev. C. A., Christian Theism, 499

SCHOOLING of the Apostles, the (review of Rev. H. Latham's Pastor Pastorum), 106 sqq.; pleasing characteristics of the book, 106; our Lord's use of the individual character of the Apostles, 107; the method of His teaching, 108; Revelation, 109; Christ's miracles, 110; the account of the Temptation, 112; relations of the Apostles to one another, 113; Christ's authority displayed in his preaching, 113

Stevenson's (Mr. R. L.) Novels, 195 sqq.; the books that win popularity, 196; Mr. Stevenson's present position, 197; details of his successes, 197; versatility of his genius, 199; psychological anatomy, 201; special qualities and merits, 202; a conscious literary artist, 203; skill in describing character, 204; scenery, 205; wealth of fancy, 206; drawbacks, 207 sq.; comparison with Nathaniel Hawthorne, 210

Stubbs, Bishop, Primary Charge, 488

UNK

TATIAN'S Diatessaron, 339 sqq.; Bishop Lightfoot's paper on it (1877), 339; Eusebius's reference, 340; Theodoret's, 340; other references, 341; discovery of new material for judging it, 342; Moesinger's work: Ephraem's commentary, 342; Hemphill's translation, 344; corruptions during transmission, 345; real peculiarities of the text, 346; caution required in using Ephraem's commentary, 347; importance of the present work, 348; Ciasca's edition, 349; the MSS. on which it is founded, 350; specimens of Tatian's work: The Temptation, 351; fragments in Ephraem's commentary, 352; order in which Tatian records the events of our Lord's life, 353; treatment of harmonistic difficulties, 355; of verbal differences between the Synoptics, 356; Aphraates' quotations, 357; some striking readings, 358; comparison with the Arabic version, the Curetonian, the Peshitto, 359; importance of the Diatessaron, 360

The Five Talents of Woman (Author of How to be Happy though Married), 514

Theologischer Jahresbericht (Part IX.), 479

The Shorter Poems of Robert Bridges, 511

Thornton, Mr. Lewis, Opposites, 254

Tovey, Mr. D. C., Gray and his Friends, 257

Transactions of the St. Paul's Ecclesiological Society, vol. ii. pt. v., 508

UNKNOWN God, the (review of Mr. C. Loring Brace's work), 180 sqq.; Egyptian Monotheism, 181; comparison with Jewish faith, 182; primitive faith of Akkad, 183; Greek and Latin faith, 184; Zoroastrianism, 185; Indo-Aryan teaching, 186; Brahmanism and Buddhism, 187; Hinduism, Mithraism, 189; pessimism of Oriental creeds, 190;

the conditions and extent of heathen inspiration, 191 sq.; hopes of Christianizing the heathen, 193

Unrecorded sayings of Our Lord, the, 1 sqq.; possibility of tracing pre-canonical Gospels, 3; Dr. Westcott's collection of apocryphal traditions, 4; uncanonical traditions, ib.; Resch's Agrapha, 5; estimate of his method, 6; hypothesis of a primitive Hebrew Gospel known to St. Paul, 8; St. Luke's statement that others had before him written about our Lord's life, 9; fragments of lost early Gospels, 10; ancient currency of a reputed saying of Christ's, ib.; Resch's hypothesis of an Aramaic origin, 11; his use of the Clementines, 13; their inaccuracies, wilful and otherwise, 14; question of the use of a written Gospel by New Testament writers, 15; verbal coincidences in their writings, 16; consideration of 1 Cor. ii. 9: Dr. Neale's theory, ib.; Origen attributes it to the apocryphal book of Elias, 17; this idea scouted by St. Jerome, 18; criticism of Resch's theory that the words came from the Primitive Gospel, 19; other like cases, 20; specimens of Resch's 'agrapha,' and of coincidences of expressions in the New Testament, 21; reasons for thinking that there must have circulated, in addition to our four Gospels, another Gospel somewhat different, ib.

WACE, Rev. Dr., Some Central Points of our Lord's Ministry, 496

Watkins, Archdeacon, Bampton Lectures, 1890, 116 sqq.; present position of the controversy on the Fourth Gospel, 116; discoveries in favour of the Gospel of St. John, 117; the attacks on it, 118; the judgment of the ages on the question, 120; the Reformation period, 122; attacks of German critics, 123; Evanson, Bretschneider, 124; Schleiermacher, Neander, De Wette, 125; Bretschneider's Probabilia and retractation, 125; Strauss, 126; his theory criticized, 127; his position towards the Fourth Gospel, 129; his Hegelianism, 130 sq.; the two great principles in nature: Divine purpose and natural law, 132; the idea of the living God the fundamental principle in theology, 133; Baur's theory criticized, 134; the overthrow of the Tübingen theory, 137; Bishop Lightfoot's share in its refutation, 138; other classes of opponents, ib.; Renan, 139; increase of our knowledge of primitive Christians, 139; guesswork and negative criticism, 140

West, Clarion, Demas, 258

Wordsworthiana, 245

Wright, Rev. A., The Composition of the Four Gospels, 241

YONGE, Miss C. M., A Reputed Changeling, 251

PRINTED BY SPOTTISWOODE AND CO., NEW-STREET SQUARE
LONDON

XUM

tral inispton sent on dis-spel s on ages

Reacks
son, eier-125;
and 126;
his Gos-130
s in and f the prin-aur's over-eory, re in asses 139;
e of uess-
, 140

ition

buted

XUM